WOODSIDE SUPPORTS HUMANITARIAN RELIEF IN MYANMAR AND BANGLADESH

Woodside has today donated $100,000 to support humanitarian relief activities being undertaken by the Red Cross and Save the Children in Myanmar and Bangladesh.

The donations of $50,000 to each organisation will be used to provide assistance to displaced people in Rakhine State and Bangladesh.

Woodside CEO Peter Coleman said the company was concerned about the impacts on families and communities.

“Woodside’s donations to the Red Cross and Save the Children will be used to provide shelter, food, clean water and health services to people in need,” he said.

The Red Cross and Save the Children are participating in the Australian Government’s fundraising appeal; more information is available here.
